

Apricot and Almond Biscotti (modified)

350°F

About 40 biscotti. “Biscotti, which keep for a long time, are great for snacks or desserts on their own or with fresh fruit. This recipe is easy: all the ingredients are mixed together for a few seconds in a food processor, shaped into a loaf, cooked in the oven for 30 minutes, then sliced and returned to the oven for 20 minutes more. The addition of dried apricots lends tangy taste and chewiness to the biscotti.” — Sweet Simplicity – Jacques Pépin’s Fruit Desserts.

1. PREHEAT OVEN to 350°F. Toast the almonds for about 8 minutes on a baking sheet, stirring them around every 2 minutes. INCREASE OVEN HEAT to 375°F.

2. Toss flour in a bowl with the cut up apricots, then transfer to cuisinart. Pulse the mixture several times, until diced. Process the mixture for 16 seconds. Use scissors to chop up any remaining large pieces of apricot.

1 Tb all-purpose flour
4 ounces dried apricots, each cut into eight pieces - (use scissors to do this)

3. To the flour-apricot mixture in the bowl of the food processor, add the rest of the flour, sugar, baking powder, and salt. Process the mixture for 5 seconds.

3 5/8 cups (17.25 oz/490g) all-purpose flour, less 1 Tb
1 1/2 cups (10.6 oz/300g) granulated sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon fine salt

4. Add the egg, milk, oil, and vanilla, and process for 10 seconds, or until the mixture just begins to hold together.

2 large eggs
1/4 cup canola oil
6 tablespoons milk (1/4 cup plus 2 Tb)
1 tablespoon pure vanilla extract
1/4 teaspoon almond extract (my addition)

NOTE: I add the eggs separately first, then assemble the top of the cuisinart. Then turn it on, and pour in the other liquid ingredients. Don't wait too long to blend the ingredients - the liquid very quickly finds a way to seep out around the blade.

5. Transfer the mixture to a bowl, add the nuts, apricots, and cherries, and mix by hand until thoroughly combined.

7.5 oz blanched almonds (toasted)
Diced apricots
1/2 cup (2.1 oz/60g) dried cherries (soaked in port or orange juice – heat it a little)

6. Line a cookie sheet with no sides with parchment paper.

Divide the dough into two portions. Place one dough portion in a mound on a piece of plastic wrap about 18 inches long, and press and roll to form it into a log about 12 inches long by 3 inches wide by 1 inch high.

Invert the dough log onto the parchment paper, and peel off the plastic wrap. Repeat with the second portion of dough.

7. BAKE the logs at 375°F for 30 minutes, or until lightly browned on all sides and cracked on top.

REDUCE THE OVEN HEAT to 350°F.

Cool the logs on the cookie sheet for about 30 minutes.

8. Transfer one of the logs to a cutting board, and, using a serrated knife, gently cut it crosswise into 1/2-inch slices. (You should have about twenty.) Repeat with the second log.

9. Arrange the slices on 2 parchment-lined cookie sheets, and bake the biscotti at 350°F for 10 minutes. Remove pans from oven, swap levels and rotate the pans in the oven. Bake another 10 minutes (or until nicely browned on both sides). (There is no need to turn the biscotti over halfway through the baking time, as many biscotti recipes instruct; these brown nicely on both sides without turning.)

10. Turn off the oven. DRY the biscotti in the oven for 35 minutes, with the door open.

11. COOL the biscotti thoroughly on a wire rack, for 30 minutes, then store in a dry place (or wrap them well, and freeze them).

NOTES

- Reduced flour quantity for better texture. Also changed to not use dried cherries instead of dried cranberries.
- The secret to great biscotti is for them to be thin. You should flatten the logs as much as possible before baking them. After the initial baking, you should also slice the biscotti about 1/2" thick (you really have to slice them by hand).
- If you like extra crunchy biscotti, increase final baking time to 12 + 12 minutes.
